Theme of the Workshop

Most Business decisions go hand in hand involved in value creation with “cost optimisation”. Business modelling can add value to the business. Tax is also a cost and the tax credits can help to reduce cost. Both need to be optimised without exposing one to any dispute or demand.

The Indirect taxes (Customs & GST) play an important role as it works out to 20%-25% of the turnover of the business. The importers and exporters would also need to know how to prevent or avoid disputes, mitigate or resolve the litigation in GST, Customs and Foreign Trade Policy. This would ensure and improve future margins and image of Company.

Efficient procurement to reduce the material cost, effective marketing and customer centric quotes would require managers/ officers to understand some critical areas of impact and the inter connection of the Indirect taxes.

Companies involved in expansion/ setting up could also structure their transaction to bring down the final impact of Customs/ GST on the projects which would bring down the project cost to some extent.

Well, here is an opportunity to get insights on cost control techniques & tax planning.

Looking forward to seeing you on the 27th April 2019.
